UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, } ss.
DISTRICT OF OREGON

WHEREAS information has been filed in the District Court of the United States of America for the District of Oregon on the 3d day of March A. D. 1863 by Edward McGowan, Attorney of the United States for the said District of Oregon, acting on behalf of the United States against the ship or vessel known as the Morris, her tackle, apparel and furniture, alleging in substance that the Steamboat called the Morris was built at Astoria on the Columbia River in the District of Portland in said District of Oregon, and was on the 3d day of March 1863 at the Port of Astoria, on the Columbia River in said District of Oregon, a vessel of the burthen of about fifteen tons or more, and was navigated by steam and was then and there a vessel employed in carrying passengers and merchandise upon the waters of the Columbia River, and was then and there a vessel of the United States of America that is to say, a steamboat duly enrolled and licensed as an American ship or vessel duly registered and licensed at the Port of Victoria in Vancouver's Island, the same being a foreign port, and that the said steamboat was afterwards, to wit: on the 1st day of August, 1862, at the Port of Victoria aforesaid, sold and transferred in whole or in part in trust or confidence or otherwise, to a subject or subjects of Her Britannic Majesty, that is to say, on the 1st day of August, 1862, the said steam boat Morris did enter the Port of Astoria in said District of Oregon, the same being the first American Port at which she had entered since said sale or transfer, and that said sale or transfer was not made known, as by law required, contrary to the statute in such case made and provided, and that by said sale and transfer and the neglect to make the same known as aforesaid the said steamboat, her tackle, apparel and furniture became forfeited to the United States of America. And that a certificate of registry granted to the said steamboat Morris, as an American vessel, at the port of San Francisco in the District of California, July 29, 1858, was on the 8th day of August 1862, at the Port of Astoria in the District of Oregon, fraudulently or knowingly used for said steamboat Morris, she being a sailing vessel not then (to-wit) on said 8th day of August 1862, actually entitled to the benefit thereof according to the true intent of the Act of Congress entitled An Act concerning the registering and recording of ships or vessels approved December 31st 1792 by which fraudulent or knowing use of said certificate of registry said steamboat Morris, her tackle, apparel and furniture became forfeited to the United States of America. And praying that the same may be condemned as forfeited as aforesaid.

Now therefore, in pursuance of the monition under the seal of the said Court to me directed and delivered I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming the said ship or vessel to-wit: the steamboat Morris her tackle apparel and furniture, that they be and appear before the said District Court to be held at the Court House in the City of Portland in and for the said District of Oregon on the first Monday of April next (that being the first Monday of the same month) being a day of jurisdiction otherwise on the next day of jurisdiction thereafter) then and there to interpose their claims and make their allegations in that behalf.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAR 21 1863

Rebel Treatment of Loyalists

In the whole sad and terrible history of the infernal rebellion, there is nothing more damnably atrocious than the wicked cruelty which is uniformly practised toward loyal men and women in the States under its dominion From the beginning we have had almost incredible statements of proceedings of this sort, but of late, these recitals have multiplied, till now hardly any intelligence comes from that quarter which is not full of dark and awful tragedy Men, whose only crimes were patriotism—love for the Union and a reluctance to denounce and to abuse the institutions of their birthland, have been murdered like dogs,—their families made homeless and destitute of every means of comfort and support,—the last vestige of their property wantonly wasted or stolen Nothing has been sacred in the eyes of the rebel mob, or even of the troops, which belonged to those who dared to be true and honest in their fidelity, but the effort seems to have been to make their sufferings and tortures as exquisite and intolerable as possible Nor was this conduct limited to few instances, or confined to special localities It is general, and extends throughout the Confederacy, and if the Government was not bound in self-defence and and for other reasons, to exert its utmost power to crush the rebellion, the cruel treatment of loyal men and women would justify even harsher measures than have yet been adopted for the punishment of the guilty villians who have acted in this inhuman manner Indeed, we cannot help feeling that the Administration owes a more special protection and a more energetic vindication to these patriotic and bitterly persecuted men, than have yet been vouchsafed to them, and on their account we shall especially hail the glad hour that shall set them free from the ungodly tyranny by which they are now so cruelly cursed

We hear an immense howling from the secession press whenever the Government deems it expedient to punish or to restrain the disloyalty of traitors, who are violating the laws and their duty as citizens in this hour of national agony, when the necessity of safety justifies every act that may tend to public safety, and "rights of the citizen" and "the liberty of the press" are the burden of their perpetual wail But we have never known one of them to express a word of sympathy for the thousands of loyal men in the South, who have been murdered, cast into dungeons, or stripped of all their possessions We never hear these pattern defenders of constitutional right and safeguards say a syllable in behalf of women and children butchered or sent forth destitute, because they bear the honest name of a loyalist How is this? Are their sympathies only on the side of treason? Is it in their pious judgment all right for the Confederate scoundrels to violate every moral, political and social obligation, while it is "hideous tyranny" on the part of the Government to struggle for its existence and to endeavor to restrain such enormous wickedness? Answer these questions, you rebels in bad disguise, or forever hold your peace in regard to the just and necessary acts of the Government. Do not disgrace your manhood by upholding a bastard confederacy, whose highest aim is national ruin attended by individual suffering, torture and despair

Mining News.

By the arrival of the Wilson G Hunt last evening, we have dates from Walla Walla to the 18th, from Lewiston of the 17th from Auburn of the 16th, from Florence and Orofino of the 9th, and from Boise of the 7th instant.

Snake River at Lewiston was rising slowly, and it is expected that by next week the Col Wright will be able to reach Lewiston and probably proceed as far up in the direction of Boise as Brownlee's Ferry, as it is well settled that the river is navigable for steamboats to that place and probably further

Large numbers are leaving Lewiston daily, in small boats, for the Boise mines that being the easiest and cheapest route A great many are leaving by land also One hundred loaded pack animals left Lewiston on Monday last. A man just in from Placerville, made the trip to the mouth of Slate Creek in seven days, and reports only twenty miles of snow to contend with on that route The snow is still on the ground at Placerville, and but little mining done except with rockers but even the results of this kind of mining carried on in deep snows and cold weather, give rise to the wildest speculations as to the extent and richness of the Boise mines Men write about their claims yielding from forty to one hundred dollars per day, and ounce diggings are scarcely mentioned Of course men going there on such excited expectations are bound to be disappointed but we have yet to hear of a man returned from Boise who pronounce the diggings a humbug

At Auburn the snow is gradually melting away and mining has already commenced The Canal Company expect to have water on Freeze out Gulch this week and the dust has already commenced coming in from that point

New diggings have been discovered eight miles below the mead ws of Warren's diggings prospecting from $1 50 to $2 to the pan

At Oro Fino mining has commenced, and from that place we are sure of a large yield of gold the coming season which will probably double for several succeeding years, as it is a large mineral section and barely prospected yet

The snow is still deep at Florence but many predict a much larger shipment of gold from that place than we had last year and last year that place alone must have yielded four millions of dollars

From Walla Walla we learn that the Government mules that were stolen a short time since have been recovered A man by the name of Creighton who has been in Government employ some time, together with a Mr Miller succeeded in tracking the mules to Okanagan Lake They came upon the camp of the thieves at night but remained hid in the bushes until daylight They then discovered that there were three white men and one Indian with the mules But one of the men they were certain was not engaged in the stealing Creighton and Miller crept up on them while they were at breakfast Miller killed his man the first fire but Creighton's gun snapped and a short struggle ensued which resulted in Creighton's man going overboard having been shot in the shoulder by Miller, and through the heart by Creighton after he drew his pistol One of the men killed was named Stubs, the other man's name was not known The mules and the Indians were brought into Walla Walla last Wednesday

The gold dust shipments from the upper country have already commenced Wells, Fargo & Co have brought down this week over fifty thousand dollars

Letter from Dalles

DALLES, March 19th 1863

The recent stealing of the Quartermaster's pack train from Fort Walla Walla has doubtless ere this been made public in your place The recovery of the animals and may not prove uninteresting. As soon as Col Steinberger was informed of the robbery, he detailed two detachments of the Oregon Cavalry to go in pursuit of the depredators One party, only, struck the trail, going out by the Colville crossing of Snake river This party was accompanied by the two herdsmen of the Government mules—Messrs Miller and Creighton After some days' pursuit the military party gave out and the two herdsmen continued the pursuit In the meantime Capt. Curry was despatched with another party of Oregon Cavalry fully provided with forage and thirty days' rations, determined to bring the outlaws back But the two herdsmen were in advance of them and made good use of their time Following the robbers across the Columbia above Fort Okanagan, they learned that a man called 'Dancing Bill' had gone on to their camp to buy a part of the stolen mules The robbers were snowbound The two pursuers hitched their horses near the robbers' camp and advanced cautiously on foot to their camp fire where they found the villains engaged in cooking breakfast Their party consisted of a man named Schnebly alias Stubbs, a man whose name is unknown and an Indian herdsman The pursuers inquired for 'Dancing Bill" and being informed that he had been there at once accused them of having stolen the Government mules (It must be borne in mind that the identity of the robbers had not been fixed; no person knowing with certainty who they were) A desperate fight at once ensued Miller shot the nameless man dead on the spot Creighton snapped his gun at "Stubbs," who advanced on him with his bowie knife, and succeeded in cutting Creighton slightly At this moment Miller shot "Stubbs through the shoulder wounding him badly The miscreant turned to flee and Creighton shot him dead as he ran Leaving the dead robbers behind, the two herdsmen collected the mules, seventy five in number, and returned, meeting Capt Curry's party on the way, to whom the mules were turned over The robber 'Stubbs" is well known at Walla Walla, and has property on the Touchet river The man 'Dancing Bill' had bought some of the mules, and the money was taken from their persons and returned to him He is not blamed at all The Indian was brought back a prisoner The robbers arms were given to a party of miners, to pay the expenses of their burial Thus ends two more of the 'road agents."

INDIAN OUTRAGE.

A party of miners were recently coming down Snake river and near the ferry on the Boise and Auburn road were making a portage around a rapid place in the river, while two of them were at the lower end of the rapids two others, at the other end were set on and murdered by a party of Indians, and thirty two ounces of gold taken from their baggage

I am indebted to Gov Gibbs who has just returned from Walla Walla, for the above facts LIBERAL

The Commercial now admits that it was Daniel Miller instead of Samuel Miller of Iowa, that wrote a certain letter denouncing the Administration, but has not yet found out that it is the latter who is a Justice of the Supreme Court, and did not write any such balderdash Keep on studying the matter you will come out right though every body will laugh at your blunder The Judge is Samuel Daniel has not yet come to judgment if we may judge by his letter Buck clear out handsomely—you have only apologized yet—and be more careful next time

The N Y correspondent of the S F Bulletin says

There has been a sale of coins and medals here which has attracted the attention from its rarity The sale was the most extensive that ever occurred in this city the amount realized having been over $8 000 An American cent of a year whose date I forget brought $125 and several others brought $16 and $36 Dollars and half dollars were sold for $28, $30 and $37 The so called Washington pieces sold for sums ranging from $50 to $75 each specimen

Business has already been enriched to the extent of nearly £4 000 000 by the advance in the price of cotton one Parsee alone having cleared £810 000 by his speculations in that article, while other firms have done nearly the same

Legal Tender Notes this Day—60 cents.

FOUND DEAD.—An Indian known by the name of "Jo. Lane," was found dead, on Thursday morning last, in a ditch in the lower part of the city. It is supposed that while wandering around during the night previous, in a drunken condition, he fell into the ditch, in which there was a few inches of water, and being unable to extricate himself, drowned in that condition. Sic transit gloria Si wash.

THE COLUMBIA RIVER ROAD.—We are informed by Gen. Palmer that this road has been opened so as to make a good trail for pack trains and cattle. The ferryboat for the mouth of Sandy is finished, and will be launched to-morrow, and as soon as it is put in running order the trail will be regularly opened, of which due notice will be given by advertisement.

A MAN MISSING.—A man named Jos Rice mysteriously disappeared day before yesterday, in this city, under the following circumstances:—He came down from the Cascades on that day on the E. D. Baker, and after leaving bills of goods he wished to purchase at W. W. Baker & Co.'s and Weil Bros., went to Chinep John's to leave some sacks which he was going to fill with fruit at Milwaukie. Since that time he has not been seen or heard of. He was slightly intoxicated at the time. He had just sold his farm, near Milwaukie, and had considerable money about his person, and his friends fear that he has met with foul play. Any person hearing of him, will please leave word at this office.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Rev. P. B. Chamberlain will preach at the Congregational Church to-morrow at half-past ten o'clock A. M., and at 7½ P. M.

TWENTY THOUSAND.—Greenbacks seem to have an upward tendency by four dispatches from San Francisco, being quoted at 63@65.

BIVALVES.—Charley Burchardt, of the "Clom," advises a fresh arrival of oysters from Shoalwater Bay. Try them.

FOR LEWISTON.—The steamer Relief leaves Carpenter for Lewiston on Tuesday next (24th inst.) at 11 A. M.

MINT SMOK.—We are informed by letter from Mr. C. G. Caples, of St. Helens, that a party of young men, consisting of Joseph Caples, Phillip Loffer, Thos. Baxter and Dan'l Post, started out to explore the country back of that place, on the 14th inst. After going about twenty-five miles, the gun of Mr. Post, which was barrelled and loaded with buckshot, was accidentally discharged, and the contents went through the outside of the left thigh of Mr. Baxter, who was only two or three yards in the rear, and at the same time injuring his powder-horn. Baxter fell, but it was soon discovered that no bones were fractured. The party were two days in returning to St. Helens, where the wounded man now is, getting along very well. They report passing through a delightful country, well suited to agriculture, and abounding in elk, deer, bear, and game of all kinds. Portions of the country bore indications of the existence of gold.

CLACKAMAS COUNTY.—We learn that the Circuit Court at Oregon City will probably adjourn to-day. The trial of Strickland for the murder of Morang, was postponed till next term on account of the absence of a material witness. The case of Miles vs. Knighton, for Columbia County, by change of venue, was tried, and the jury failed to agree.

MASONIC.—Harmony Lodge, No 12, F & A. M., holds stated communications on the 2d and 4th Mondays of each month, at 7 o'clock P. M. Brethren in good standing are invited to attend. By order of W M.

STORAGE.—THE FIRE-PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Howells House, is the only building in not made of wood, at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other buildings that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1 50 per ton per month storage and although storage in wooden buildings is $1 00 per ton, yet the public can fail to perceive the advantages the subscriber possesses over other warehouses of this place

Sick Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are productive of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, for the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat before severe or slight as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Public Speakers and Singers will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. dec16dw3m

DOCTOR VAN ZANDT,

CONSULTING PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,

Office, Corner of Washington and Sansome Streets, San Francisco

The GREATEST SUCCESS of the CENTURY in MEDICAL and SURGICAL SCIENCE

The Most Powerful Preventive and Curative Agent ever discovered for the Cure of all Nervous and Spinal Diseases

IN WHAT IS JUSTLY CONSIDERED AS ONE OF THE GREATEST triumphs of the Electrical science of the present age, Dr. Van Zandt has succeeded in producing an Electrical Machine, which, while it is perfectly safe in the hands of the most delicate female, is at the same time the most powerful and effective Electrical Instrument ever manufactured, and is destined to work a complete revolution in the treatment of all Nervous Diseases.

Too Much Cannot be Said

in praise of this wonderful discovery, which already has enabled thousands of helpless invalids to throw away their crutches and walk like new men. Those who have been for years racked with pain, and who have been pronounced incurable by the most eminent physicians, have found in Dr. Van Zandt's New Electrical Machine a never failing remedy, and have been restored to perfect health and strength.

Awaken the Magnetic Life within us

The whole system is invigorated by the use of this wonderful instrument, and the most delicate and shattered constitutions are built up and restored to perfect health and vigor. Those who have been for years racked with pain, and who have been pronounced incurable by the most eminent physicians, have found in Dr. Van Zandt's New Electrical Machine a never failing remedy, and have been restored to perfect health and strength.

No Compromise with Disease.

Give the disease with an instrument which never fails to do its work, and the disease must flee. Never have we known an instance where the Electrical Machine has been used according to the directions of the inventor, Dr. Van Zandt, where the disease has not been entirely eradicated from the system. Those who have been for years racked with pain, and who have been pronounced incurable by the most eminent physicians, have found in Dr. Van Zandt's New Electrical Machine a never failing remedy, and have been restored to perfect health and strength.

To the Ladies of California.

Dr Van Zandt has met with unparalleled success with women, both in married and single life. Those who have been for years racked with pain, and who have been pronounced incurable by the most eminent physicians, have found in Dr. Van Zandt's New Electrical Machine a never failing remedy, and have been restored to perfect health and strength. Ladies can consult him with entire confidence, as he is no speculator in human life—but is performing his life's only mission of the legitimate professional skill which is really successful in removing the disease with which the patient is afflicted.

Having a perfect control of their delicately attuned nervous organization together with their great sympathetic life centers in Dr. Van Zandt's magic touch and silent principle, those who have been for years racked with pain, and who have been pronounced incurable by the most eminent physicians, have found in Dr. Van Zandt's New Electrical Machine a never failing remedy, and have been restored to perfect health and strength. All operations successfully performed upon those delicate organs of sense.

The value of a Sewing Machine cannot be estimated by the amount it would iron brass or steel used in its construction but by the manner in which these materials are put together and the quantity and quality of the work it turns out. Those who buy a Machine or a piano-forte for very little money, if they buy what either for your own use, you wish an article which can be relied upon, and you will purchase accordingly.

DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any household remedy to be tattered to it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its doing every thing we claim, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely and take a dose of it internally as often as you might. It will not only cure the pain but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the diarrhœa or a relaxed state of the bowels take a dose of Pain Panacea and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely and you will soon relieve pain and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe toothache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and put the gum at the same time it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast Side Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected freely night and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound cut or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea and it will cure all the inflammation and heal the sore in short time.

Female Courage

A striking trait of courage in a lady forms the subject of conversation at present in the French metropolis Madame Aubry lives in a solitary chateau not far from the town of The family consisted of M Aubry his wife, a child about a year old and one maid servant In the little town every light is out by ten o clock and of course the most perfect solitude reigns at that hour in their house, which is off the road, and is completely hidden by trees One night last winter Madame Aubry was sitting alone reading Her husband had left her in the morning to visit a friend six or eight miles off, and as he expected to bring home a considerable sum of money, he had taken the unusual precaution of arming himself with a pair of pistols At about six o clock, the lady went up to her room to put her child to bed Her appartment was a large room in the first floor filled up on one side by an old fashioned chimney and on the other by a deep and spacious alcove, near which stood her infant's cradle The night was a gloomy one cold and dark, and every now and then a dash of rain beat against the gothic windows The trees in the garden bowed to the wind, and their branches came sweeping against the casement, in short, it was a night in which the solitude of the mansion was more complete and melancholy than usual Madam Aubry sat down on a low chair near the fire which, by its sudden flashes, cast an uncertain light over the vast apartment, throwing its antique carvings and mouldings by turns into brighter relief or deeper shade She had her child on her lap, and had just finished preparing it for the cradle. She cast her eyes toward the alcove, to see if the cradle was ready to receive its little occupant, whose eyes were already closed Just then, the fire flashed up brightly and threw a strong light on the alcove, by which the lady distinguished a pair of feet, cased in heavy nailed shoes, peeping out of the curtain in front of the bed A thousand thoughts passed through her mind in an instant The person hidden there was a man, perhaps an assassin—that was clear She had no protection, no aid at hand Her husband was not to return till eight at soonest, and it was now only half past six What was to be done? She did not utter a single cry nor even start on her seat The servant girl probably would not have had such presence of mind The robber probably meant to remain quiet where he was till midnight, and then seize the money her husband was to bring with him, but if he should find that he was discovered, and that there was no one in the house but two women, he would not fail to leave his hiding place, and secure their silence by murdering them Besides, might not the girl be the robber's accomplice, Several slight causes of suspicion occurred to her at once, and all these reflections passed through her mind in less time than we take to write them. She decided at once what to do, which was, to send the girl out of the room

"You know that dish my husband likes," said she, without betraying her alarm by the least change in the tones of her voice, "I ought to have remembered to have it got ready for supper. Go down stairs, and see about it at once."

"Does not madame require my help here, as she generally does?"

"No, no, I will attend to everything myself, I know my husband would not be pleased, if he was to come home after his ride, in such bad weather, and not find a good supper ready."

After some delays, which increased in the lady's mind that suspicion which she was forced to conceal, the girl left the room The noise of her steps on the stairs died away gradually, and Madame Aubry was left alone with her child, with those two feet, motionless at their post, still peeping out under the curtain. She kept by the fire, with her child on her lap, continuing to caress it and sing to it, almost mechanically The child cried, it wanted to be put to bed, but its cradle was near the alcove—near those dreadful feet, how could she find courage to go near them! At last, she made a violent effort "Come, my child," said she, and got up Hardly able to stand erect, she walked towards the alcove, close to the robber She put the child in the cradle, singing it to sleep, as usual We may imagine how much inclination she had to sing. When the child fell asleep, she left it, and resumed her seat by the fire She did not dare to leave the room, it would arouse the suspicions of the robber, and of the girl, probably his accomplice Besides, she could not hear the thought of leaving her child, even if it was to purchase her own safety — The clock pointed to seven An hour yet, a whole hour, before her husband would come! Her eyes were fixed on those feet, which threatened her with death at any moment with a sort of fascination The deepest silence reigned in the room The infant slept quietly. We do not know whether even an Amazon, in her place would have been bold enough to try a struggle with the robber Madame Aubry had no arms; besides she made no claims to valor, but only to that passive courage, founded on reflection, which is far the rarer of the two. Every few minutes, she would hear a noise in the garden In that noise, a ray of hope shone on her for a moment—it was her husband, it was deliverance! But no—it was only the wind and rain, or the shutters creaking. What an age every minute seemed to be Oh, heavens! the feet move! Does the thief mean to leave his hiding place! No It was only a slight probably involuntary movement, to ease himself by changing his position The clock strikes—only once, it is the half hour only—and the clock is too fast, besides! How much anguish, how many silent prayers in these trying minutes? She took up a book of devotion and tried to read, but her eyes would wander from the page to fix on those heavy shoes. All at once a thought arose that chilled her to the very heart Suppose her husband should not come! The weather is stormy, and he has relatives in the village he went to Perhaps they have persuaded him it was unsafe to travel at night with so large a sum of money about him, perhaps they have forced him, with friendly violence, to yield to their urgent invitations to wait till morning It is striking eight—and nobody comes The idea we have alluded to appears to her more and more probable

After two hours of such agony, the unhappy lady, whose courage had been kept up by the hope of final rescue, finds her strength and hope fail her Soon she hears a noise under the window and listens, doubtfully This time she is not mistaken The heavy outerdoor creaks on its hinges, and shuts with clamor, a well known step is heard on the stairs, and a man enters—a tall, stout man It is he, it is he! At that moment, if he had been the worst of all husbands, he would have been perfection in his wife's eyes He had only taken off his wet cloak and put away his pistols, and delighted at again seeing what he most loves on earth, opens his arms to embrace his wife She clasps him convulsively, but in a moment, recovering her self possession puts her finger on his lips, and points to the two feet peeping out under the curtain

If M Aubry had been wanting in presence of mind he would not have deserved to be the husband of such a woman He made a slight gesture to show he understood her and said aloud, "Excuse me, my dear, I left the money down stairs I'll be back in two minutes" Within that time he returned pistol in hand He looks at the priming walks to the alcove stoops and while the forefinger of his hand is on the trigger with the other hand he seizes one of the feet, and cries in a voice of thunder 'Surrender or you are a dead man!' He drags by the feet it to the middle of the room a man of most ill favored aspect or rather, low to avoid the pistol which is held within an inch of his head He is searched, and a sharp dagger found on him He confesses that the girl was his accomplice and had told him M Aubry would bring a large sum home that night Nothing remains now but to give them over to the authorities Madame Aubry asked her husband to pardon them but the voice of duty is deaf to that prayer When M Aubry heard from his wife all she had gone through he could only say Who would have thought you such a coward" but in spite of her courage she was attacked at night with a violent nervous fever and did not get over her terror for several days

WHAT WE HAVE DONE AND WHAT THE REBELS HAVE DONE — The following exhibit of the successes gained in the present war by our armies and fleets over the rebels shows that there is no cause for the gloom and dissatisfaction which the secessionists are striving to spread over the land

Union Victories—Drainsville Mill Spring, Fort Henry Fort Donelson Bowling Green Columbus, Nashville Island No 10 Corinth Memphis Fort Wright, Pensacola Two battles in the Ozark Mountains (Arkansas), Fort Pulaski Fort Macon, Baton Rouge Port Royal Newbern Roanoke Island, Norfolk Merrimac Evacuation of Manassas York town Williamsburg Hanover Court House Fair Oaks, Malvern Hill, New Orleans Murfreesboro, South Mountain Antietam Arkansas Post, and Fosters doings in North Carolina

The rebels have been driven from Maryland, Kentucky, Western Virginia, Missouri, and nearly all Tennessee The blockade by land and sea has been so perfect that molasses is $7 a gallon, sugar $1 a pound, and boots $25 a pair in Richmond We have captured or destroyed as many as nine large iron clads The Duke of Wellington never made such progress as this in his Peninsular campaign, and our operations compare favorably with those of the Allies against Sebastopol, or of the English against the rebels in India

Rebel Victories—Two battles at Bull Run, Big Bethel, Ball's Bluff, Bolivar Vicksburg, James Island, Cedar Mountain, Front Royal Harper's Ferry McClellan driven from Richmond, Fredericksburg, Clarksville retaken, but lost again, recapture of Galveston, with the Harriet Lane, destruction of the Congress and Cumberland and the capture here and there of gunboats, Fort Craig New Mexico, incursions into Pennsylvania Maryland, Kentucky, from which they were driven back, depredations on the high seas

A PLANTATION PURCHASE OF JEFF DAVIS —It may prove of some interest to our readers to know that President Jefferson Davis and his brother, Col Joseph E Davis have recently purchased plantations in this county and removed their slaves to them, Col Jos E Davis has purchased the plantation owned and occupied for many years past by Dr J Catchings the latter gentleman having removed to his plantation in Sunflower county President Davis has secured a place adjoining his brother's, being the same owned and occupied for twelve years past by James P Smith These plantations are between two and three miles from Bolton's Depot, on the Southern railroad, and nearly between Vicksburg and Jackson As both gentlemen own very superior plantations on the river below Vicksburg, we presume the lands just purchased are designed merely as places of refuge for negro property until the end of the war —Hinds County (Miss) Gazette
